

Welcome

It has been a week where we started the animation. We also received the characters in the good old IKEA way, and last Friday became the day where all the team members was saying to themselves "I can finish this, I know I can".

Jesper and Dan will turn on the light November 13th, 2006.

Welcome to the cave

Dan has done the final texture for the cave, and it looks really great. Take a deep breath, click the image and question yourself "Would I like to meet the Mantis here?"

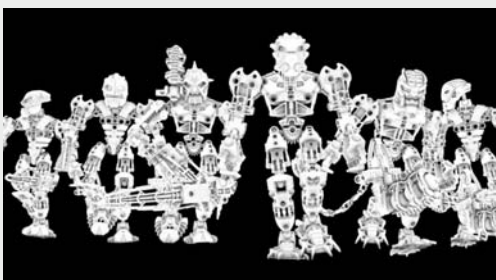

Sc 200 approval

Simon won the very prestigious Approval soft drink (godkendelsessodavanden) for the first approved animation in the Bionicle Barraki production. The picture shows a very happy Simon who received the award Tuesday.

Plateau and the temple

Jesper has finished the texturing for the Tempel and Plateau. Check out the Highrez images, and see why Faber was smiling after he saw the images.

its´time for Highrez, and the latest animaticmation
